

To Whom It May Concern:

Avi Niv and his associates at Mayday International provided my extended team excellent training on the Behavior Pattern Recognition process. This skill set has proved invaluable to my team as they make on the spot assessments of situations and individuals. The training has enabled them to establish real-time insight into what or who they may be dealing with, gauge the potential for escalation or threat and respond appropriately. I would highly recommend this training to any organization and its personnel. Correctly implemented, it will avoid unnecessary escalations and business operation disruptions.

During the course of this training, it became clear Avi and his associates possess a vast knowledge and considerable experience in international terrorism issues. His perspectives were a significant value-add to the training. Having personally worked in this arena for almost 30 years, I consider Avi to be one of the most experienced and realistic experts in this field. Any company operating globally would benefit not only from this training but from his personal experience and knowledge as well. I would highly recommend both the training and a relationship with Avi.

Sincerely,
